Dear Kathy:

Thank you for providing our Managerial Communications class with an informative and motivational presentation, one of which will be remembered as we go forth into our career paths.

It was an eye opener to all of us that you had begun your success story at such a young age, as a senior in high school, opening your own business. This story really got our class to see that we can all accomplish whatever we put our minds to, the same way you did. Your inspiring speech about branding yourself as an individual was a great tip for us as search for jobs following graduation. It was beneficial for us to hear about all of your accomplishments around the world, the books you have written, and the fact that you have a black belt and started your own family; all of these successes were recognized by our class and motivated us to want to go out there and find our own successes that we can talk about one day.

In addition to your positive feedback and inspiring personal stories, we really enjoyed your sense of humor and down to earth personality. Your interaction with our class really kept our attention and loved your enthusiasm.

We're grateful, Kathy, for the time you took out of your very busy schedule, to come to our Managerial Communications class at Central Connecticut State University and give us such a motivational speech from the heart. Thank you again!

Sincerely,

Professor Milics Managerial Communications Class
